

Intern

OCTOBER 21, 2009

LaBreche has an exciting opportunity available for a part-time paid internship with its Public Relations team. This is a three-month internship position, with the possibility of an extension. This individual will have the opportunity to assist client teams with a variety of public relations initiatives, including the development of media materials and media outreach.

The ideal candidate will be highly motivated and a self-starter, interested in a career in the field of public relations, and committed to doing what it takes to produce the best work for our clients. Excellent writing skills and a degree in public relations or journalism (or equivalent internship or volunteer experience) are also required.

If interested, please e-mail your resume, cover letter and writing sample(s) to Andrea Buzzell, abuzzell@labreche.com.